WALLACE IS BURNED.

Chief Mining Camp of Coeur d'Alene Utterly Gone—Loss Half a Million.

SPOKANE FALLS, July 27.—News has just been received here that the town of Wallace, Idaho, the great mining camp of Cœur d'Alene, has been completely destroyed by fire. At 7 o'clock this evening the Union Pacific train dispatcher at Tekoa, Wash., received word from the Western Union operator at Wallace that the town was doomed, and that his office, which was in the Union Pacific depot, at the lower end of the town, was becoming too hot to work in longer, and he would be compelled to remove his instruments to a cooler place at once. The fire started at what was Shorty Denver's saloon, a resort in the upper end of the town, and as the Union Pacific depot is at the other extreme it is supposed that the entire town is swept away. It has been learned definitely, through an official of the Union Pacific, that the entire town has gone, with the exception of the two railway depots.

The town of Wallace was situated 110 miles southeast of Spokane Falls, in a deep canyon in a spur of the Rockies, and was one of the most flourishing mining camps in the United States. No less than a dozen flourishing mines are directly tributary, among them being the famous Morning and Evening mines.

$400,000 for Ireland—Creighton Webb's Heroism and Crutches — Disappointed Americans Who Were Not at the Prince's Garden Party, Etc.

LONDON, July 19.—The Irish party scored a triumph at the fag end of the session, in the debate on the Irish estimates, which closed last night, after lasting two weeks. Every department of the Irish administration is closely examined. Lord Salisbury has agreed to distribute $400,000, which it was originally intended should apply to purchases in the defunct Publican bill, to public purposes in Ireland which shall be named by the Irish party. Half of this sum will be given towards the erection of laborers' cottages, half to assist in middle-class education. It is expected that before the session ends Balfour will state whether he intends to accept Parnell's proposal to constitute by statute a board of arbitrators to settle disputes between landlords and tenants on a dozen estates in Ireland, where the plan on campaign is in operation. Tories and landlords have the idea that the funds for the support of the evicted tenants held by Parnell are nearly exhausted. They are influencing Balfour to refuse Parnell's offer in the hope that the tenants may be starved out. This hope is the mainstay of the Tories at present. They believe that if the struggle can be kept going for a year or two more the Irish party will have no funds to fight at the next general election. As Parliament will reassemble in November Balfour does not dare to increase the pressure of coercion during the autumn. The attacks in Parliament during the last fortnight have caused a relaxation of its most irritating features, even in Tipperary.

HE DEFENDED THE DOWAGER.

Creighton Webb is scarcely able to hobble from his hotel to his cab on crutches. Webb went to the opera on the night of the police riots at Convent Garden with the Dowager Countess of Shrewsbury. The carriage was stopped by a crowd of roughs, who pulled open the doors and threatened the coachman and to drag the Countess out, shouting "Get her diamonds!" Webb struck out right and left, but in kicking one fellow he broke his ankle bone, which accident has confined him to his room ever since. In the scuffle the door of the brougham was wrenched from its hinges.

DISAPPOINTED AMERICANS.

Scores of Americans who hung on till the last week of the season on the promise that they should be invited to the Prince of Wales' garden party, had to chew the bitter cud of disappointment at the eleventh hour. Fewer Americans were invited this time than for some years past. Chauncey M. Depew got there all right, though it happened only two days after his arrival. Chauncey takes pains promptly to notify his friend the Prince when he arrives in London, and gets invited somewhere at once where he can meet his swell friends who book him ahead for dinners and parties during his stay. The disappointment of those not invited is all the greater because the Prince has decided not to give his annual ball this year. The American ladies presented at the garden party by Mrs. McCormick were Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, Lady Arthur Butler, Mrs. Arthur Paget, Mrs. Ronalds, Mrs. Adair, Mrs. Smith-Barry, Mrs. Henry White, Mrs. Naylor Leyland (formerly Jennie Chamberlain), Mrs. Beach-Grant, Mrs. and Miss Winslow, Mrs. Mackay, Mrs. McClellan and Lady Randolph Churchill. Numerous Americans were present.

GLIMPSES OF SOCIAL LIFE.

Mrs. Marshall Robert's ball on the following night proved a terrible crash. The season for Americans will wind up Monday night and Mrs. Mackay's party next Thursday. David Dudley Field, after his tiresome labors as Chairman of the Peace Congress, which attracted but little attention except for Belva Lockwood's speech, has gone away to get rest. E. B. Harper, with his Masonic friends Vrooman and Burnham, have been abundantly feted and feasted by the London Masonic lodges, which presented them with gold medals bearing the blended British and American flags. They left for Paris to-night. Dr. James MacLane and Clarence Seward, of Paris, Ill., Mrs. MacLane is en route for the Engadine.

DIVORCES IN DEMAND.

The return of the adolescent Lord Dunlo from America in order to free himself, if possible, from the mesalliance with the disreputable concert-hall singer, Belle Bilton, has given rise to much gossip.

Sherman Martin is also coming back with the intention to release himself from the declasse woman he married here a year ago. This report has called forth another outbreak from his wife, who is advertising for Sherman in the newspapers, alleging that his mother has alienated him. The friends of Mrs. Bradley-Martin say that while there is little doubt of ample evidence obtainable against Sherman's wife to enable them to secure a divorce under the laws, still he could not accomplish this without unpleasant publicity. So the young man will remain abroad another year, while his parents will wait until the woman is willing to be bought off on reasonable terms. Her figure now is $10,000, which the Martin's regard as altogether too much. Sherman is at present traveling in the interior of India with his tutor and his tutor's father. No time is fixed for his return. The young man literally ran away from his wife and was joined by his tutor out of England. She offered him for sale to his parents, but she was disgusted to find that instead of dealing direct with them and playing upon their desire to avoid further scandal, she was obliged to deal with the shrewd solicitor George Lewis, in whose hands the Bradley-Martins put the case. Mrs. Martin would not see her son's wife nor answer letters. Failing in attempts to be bought off at her own figure, the wife now vainly endeavors to find Sherman, which the parents are equally anxious to prevent. The family say they are determined to thwart the game of the woman. Sherman himself is now as much disgusted with her as he was infatuated when he married her.

THE PRINCE WAS HUFFY.

The sporting event of the week, if the secret had not leaked out and prevented it, would have been the prize fight specially arranged for the Prince of Wales during his visit to Newmarket. It is four years since His Highness was publicly seen at amusement of that character. The Prince was the guest at Newmarket this week of Lord Marcus Beresford. Some aristocratic sportsmen arranged that a fight should come off at Abingdon's country house, Bedford Lodge, between Charles Roberts and Charles Mansford, two English boxers, both known as hard hitters. They went to Newmarket on Wednesday, but as news of the affair had leaked out on the race course, the scene of the encounter was changed to the Greyhound Hotel, where the ring was pitched. Two rows of chairs were reserved for the Prince and his friends. Unusual preparations were made to receive him. As the Prince came along the avenue he saw a large crowd waiting to see him enter. He was much annoyed because the matter was made public and declined to go to the show.

BUENOS AYRES REVOLUTION.

A Regiment Mowed Down—The War Ships Join the Insurgents.

LONDON, July 28.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres to the Times, dated Sunday noon, says: "The fighting began at dawn Saturday, and continued till dark, when both sides had their positions. The government—police and cavalry suffered terribly. During the night the city was as quiet as the dead, but behind their shutters the citizens were alert. The insurgents reopened hostilities at dawn on Sunday, with a heavy artillery, upon the government troops, under Vice-President Pellegrini. A terribly tragic blunder occurred early in the day when a regiment suddenly deciding to join the insurgent advanced for that purpose towards the artillery. Their signals were misunderstood and they were literally mowed down by a terrific fusilade within the narrow streets. The minister of war was wounded during the fighting, and the minister of finance was made prisoner. Colonel Marmendia, Major Campos and many other officers were killed. The commander of the firemen was shot by his own men. An armistice was ordered at noon and an effort was made to reach some agreement and stop the butchery.

A latter despatch to the Times is that the armistice lasted only until one p. m., when the ships in the harbor began firing upon the government houses, Pellegrin, having refused the terms proposed by the insurgents. The British gun boats Beagle and Bramble arrived at 3 p. m., to protect the British subjects. The navy went over to the insurgents in a body. The Patagonia bombarded the government house, and the Panama shelled President Cellman's residence. The war ships ceased the bombardment at 4 p. m., and a bulletin was issued announcing that the revolution had triumphed and that a provisional government was formed. At nine o'clock Monday morning Cellman's troops occupied the house around the plaza. The American, British and Spanish ministers instructed the commanders of the war vessels of those nationalities that if the Argentine warships resumed firing they would jointly protest against the action on the ground that it is contrary to the rules of war to bombard an open city without notice. The fighting began again at 3 p. m. President Cellman proposed terms, which were rejected by the union. The troops hailed this decision with vivas. Buenos Ayres.

At 10 o'clock this morning the government troops received a strong reinforcement from the interior. President Cellman has returned to the city and resumed his office. The situation is changing in favor of the government.

London City Churches.

Within a quarter of a mile of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, stand sixty-four churches belonging to the Church of England. The following shows a little of the inequality that exists between the duties of the clergyman and the scale of remuneration:—

Church	Income	Population
St. Peter-upon-Cornhill	£2,150 with house	196
St. Olave, Hart street	2,000 with house	436
St. Andrew, Undershaft	2,000 with house	327
All Hallows, London Wall	1,700	155
St. Mary, Woolnoth	1,200	100
St. Ethelburga, Bishopsgate	1,000	199
St. Michael Cornhill	935 with house	257
St. Alphage, London Wall	925	81

Some of the city clergy, according to the Conservative St. James's Gazette, are continually absent from their parish, others neglect to provide even the semblance of parochial organization. In at least three cases the churches are completely closed: All-Hallows, Great Thames street, St. Mary Magdalen and St. Margin, Lodgate, of the respective values of £918, £322, and £200. In one church on several occasions the congregation has amounted to one; in another to two; in another to three; in another to four; in another to five; in another to six; in another to seven; in another to eight; in another to nine; in another to ten! The lucky possessor of one City living has not, according to the City Press, set foot in his parish for fourteen years, and yet the income attached to the post is so high as $1,050.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES

BLAINE'S RECIPROCITY POLICY APPROVED OF BY SPRECKELS.

The History of a California Bigamist—Lord Jersey Appointed Governor of New South Wales—Pope Leo Growing Very Weak—War News, Etc.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29—Early this morning fire destroyed a barn owned by Bendick Bros. milkmen. Ten horses were burned to death; loss about $6000.

Out of Danger.

LONDON, July 29.—It transpires that the recent accouchement of the Duchess of Sparta was attended by nearly fatal consequences to the duchess. Her royal highness is now, however, reported out of danger.

Cholera Scare.

LONDON, July 29.—Cholera is raging in Bagdad and vicinity. Great apprehension exists lest the scourge should spread westward.

Buenos Ayres News.

LONDON, July 29.—The Argentine legation has received the following: "Buenos Ayres, Monday, 2:20 p.m., It is announced that the insurrection has been completely subdued. The President of the republic and the national cabinet are giving orders from the national government house. The finance minister has been set at liberty. (Signed) Juan Garcia." Garcia is prime minister of the Argentine republic.

The Reptile Fund.

LONDON, July 29.—The announcement is made in Berlin that a "reptile fund," so named by Prince Bismarck when he cynically admitted in debate that he used it for the purpose of bribing newspapers, is no longer to be applied to secret service society purposes. Money placed at the disposal of the chancellor will be duly accounted for in public documents by Chancelor von Caprivi, who also publishes an account of the uses to which the fund had been applied in former years, but vagueness and lack of detail leaves the exact disposal of certain sums a matter of conjecture, so that Bismarck's famous statement remains unchallenged.

News from Emin.

LONDON, July 29.—The French bishop Levinhac, who returned to Zanzibar from a mission in the interior, reports that he met Emin Pasha on his way. Emin was not well, and there was considerable sickness among his company. Several of the officers were thought to be in a dying condition.

A Royal Wedding.

LONDON, July 29.—Preparations for the marriage of Archduchess Valerie of Austria have been proceeding on a magnificent scale, and the affair will be an imposing one. Crowds daily block the streets around the palace where the ceremony is to take place, and the Archduchess, who renounced the throne in order to marry the man of her choice, received many tokens of popular admiration. Sixty wagon loads of flowers have been sent, which will be used in decorating the marriage hall.

Guatemala News.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—There are still no advices at the state department from Minister Mizner as the Central American situation, beyond a meagre cablegram which arrived on Friday afternoon, stating that consternation prevailed in Guatemala owing to the rumors of defeat of the Guatemalan troops. In this cablegram Minister Mizner remarked that he had not heard from the department for ten days. The state department officials think this is singular, as within the period of time mentioned no less than five cablegrams have been dispatched to him. The circumstances point to a suppression of these cablegrams by the Guatemalan authorities, for clearly Minister Mizner had not received any of them when he cabled the department last Friday.

An Unpleasant Experience.

SEATTLE, July 29.—H. A. Burr, of this city, had a most thrilling and perilous adventure Sunday morning in the Sound opposite Rock Point, above Smith's cove. He started out from the city at an early hour in the morning in a large sail-boat, with a small row boat in tow. In trying to get into the small boat it overturned and he was thrown into the water. By great effort he managed to get astride of the overturned skiff, and he held on for over three hours before rescued. When about exhausted he was sighted by the Eastern Oregon at 8:30, and rescued by a sailor sent from the steamer.

The captain of the boat took him in his cabin and treated him to a good drink, a great deal of hard rubbing and by administering a plentiful supply of stimulants. After a good sleep Burr came out apparently as well as ever, but he will not soon forget his three hours of painful experience in the cold waters of the Sound. He had $240 in gold in a buckskin belt around his waist when found.

Wiggins' Theory.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—A special dispatch from Ottawa says that Prof. Wiggins has solved the problem as to the cause of the recent tornadoes and waterspouts which have brought such destruction in the United States. "The telegraph and telephone wires stretching over the roof of a building will certainly protect it from any thunderbolt," [illegible] in the cities suddenly exhausts the electricity from the thunderbolts and as a result comes tornadoes and waterspouts over the land in the vicinity of cities."

Instantly Killed.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 29.—While a party of six ladies and gentlemen were driving from Burlington to Oakville last evening, their team took fright and ran away, throwing out all the occupants of the wagon. Miss Ira Martin fell on her head and was instantly killed. Miss M. Kelchule of Dundas was seriously injured. The others were slightly injured.

War Rumored.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The following captains [illegible] Cunarder Gallia [illegible] De Guatemala, N. Y.—New York, July 29th, to United Press: I have just received the following cable from Minister M. Dezquea of Guatemala at Mexico: Mexico, July 28.—Guatemala has accepted the war provoked by Rosta. Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. Have signed treaty with Guatemala to demand resignation of Rosta, and to re-establish legal regime in Salvador. Respectfully, JACOB BAIZ, Consul General.

Government of New South Wales.

LONDON, July 27.—The Earl of Jersey is appointed governor of New South Wales.

Pope Leo's Condition.

ROME, July 27.—Although the Pope during the past few months has grown very thin, he is in excellent health considering his eighty-two years. In walking he stoops forward and bears heavily on his cane. He eats less than usual, but he manages to keep himself up with strong broth. He is suffering somewhat from eczema, which is strongly marked upon his hands, but this does not affect his general health.

A VILLAIN'S HISTORY.

J. D. Fiske of Fresno a Bigamist—Courted Mother and Daughter.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Times says: The shooting of John D. Fiske at Fresno, Cal., recorded in yesterday's (Monday's) newspapers, recalled to the people of Whiteplains their experience with him in the winter of 1884-85. Fiske went to Whiteplains as a lawyer and precedent to belong to one of the first families of Philadelphia. He met Minnie Newman, who was one of the belles of the village, and her mother, and courted both. He finally suggested that the daughter be sent to Vassar College to be educated and polished, as that he might make her his wife. Her trunks were packed and she was started off, ostensibly for Poughkeepsie and Vassar, but in reality she and Fiske met in New York and he took her to Philadelphia. This elopement caused great excitement in Whiteplains. The facts were printed in the newspapers and they brought out the information from Brockton, Mass., that Fiske had deserted two wives already. He visited Whiteplains several times afterwards and the young men of the place came very near giving him a coat of tar and feathers. When Mrs. Newman heard that her daughter was with Fiske at a boarding house in Philadelphia she took steps, through the assistance of the secretary for the prevention of cruelty to children to get her back, as she was under age. Fiske then attempted to prove that Mrs. Newman was not the proper person to have charge of Minnie, as she was separated from her husband. These proceedings extended into the summer of 1885, when they died out and nothing more was heard of Fiske for a long time. Two years ago Mrs. Newman moved to Kingston, N. Y., where it is believed she still lives. Last year it was heard in the White Plains that Fiske was in California.

BLAINE'S RECIPROCITY.

Spreckles of Sugar Trust Approves of the System.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 29.—C. A. Spreckles, son of the sugar king, said to-night that he had talked Secretary Blaine's sugar scheme over with a number of business men and had yet to find one who did not think well of it. "To my mind," he continued, "it is a very good thing. I think the markets of Brazil and other South American countries worth aiming for. Free sugar will not seriously injure our sugar industry. We are to have free sugar anyhow, and why not have it in accordance with Blaine's plan of widening our markets. Blaine's reciprocity scheme looks towards the increase of our export trade, which will go not a little way to make up for any loss that may result from free sugar. I have concluded that the removal of the tariff from sugar will not put a serious aspect on our affairs, provided our export trade is enlarged. This will help the entire country, and in helping all it will help us. It should not be regarded as a step in the direction of free trade."

INTO DANGEROUS WATERS.

Have the English Admitted that the Claims of the U. S. Are Just?

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Tribune publishes in full Blaine's five column letter of June 30th to the British Minister in refutation of Salisbury's claim that the United States had once disputed Russia's sovereignty in the Behring Sea, and it was [illegible] Britain is trying to put a position in which we must assume the principle of self-preservation. She had admitted our fairness and justice of our moderate claim, but with his own record staring him in the face Salisbury's assertion by his oolong new assorte claims that are utterly irreconcilable with his previous admission, and impossible for us to allow. EIGHT HOURS A DAY.

SERMON BY REV. PERCIVAL JENNS ON SUNDAY.

The Pastor of St. John's Takes a Wide View of the Question and Discusses the Labor Problem From Various Sides—An Interesting Discourse.

In compliance with the request of the Trades Assembly, Rev. Percival Jenns, on Sunday evening, made the labor question the basis of his remarks, dwelling particularly on the eight hour movement, which received his support. His sermon, which is given in full, was listened to with close attention by the entire congregation, which would, no doubt, have been much larger had the subject of the sermon been announced in advance.

Taking for his text I. Chron., xxii., 16, and II. Chron., x., 4, the reverend gentleman said:

"On Sunday last we were with King David during the time that he was making extensive preparations in the building of the renowned temple at Jerusalem. The gold, the silver, and the brass and the iron, that he accumulated during his long reign, may fitly be taken to represent capital, and the men of Israel, together with the strangers that were among them, as labor. The first of our texts furnishes the advice that the aged monarch gave to his son Solomon when he made him King over Israel. The second text describes the effect that the close adherence to this advice had upon labor at the close of Solomon's reign. On the other hand, we must not overlook what the union of capital and labor had, in the meantime, produced. The kingdom had risen to great glory. The temple was the joy and pride of the nation. Merchant fleets had been built in the Red Sea, and in the Mediterranean, and had covered the seas, bringing home the treasures of foreign lands. Jerusalem had become a city of palaces, and wealth flowed through its streets, that silver had lost its value to such an extent that it was nothing counted of in Solomon's reign. But this very prosperity was not without danger. Men were tired of the labor by which it had been produced, and not unnaturally longed for repose and rest, so that no sooner had they laid the wise king in his tomb than they demanded of his son that he should ease them somewhat from the grievous servitude of his father, and release them from the heavy yoke that for a period of forty years had been placed upon them. The conflict between labor and capital is as old as society itself. It dates back to that period when men first began to live together, and for mutual benefit organized a division of labor. At the dawn of reason it became clearly manifest that so long as every man endeavored to do everything for himself, without being in any way dependent upon others, no advance could be made, no battle won over the rude forces of nature. With the growth of intellect it was seen that the earth is one vast treasure-house, capable of yielding immense comfort and gratification to beings who have wisdom enough to appreciate them. But these treasures were all in an undeveloped state, and that before they could be of service to man another ingredient was necessary, that was labor. Thus the earth, plus labor, would yield harvest; wool and other fibres, plus labor, clothing; crude ore, plus labor, metal; and so on until the highest glory and refinement could be obtained. Now the point of dispute has always been, who should supply the second portion of this compound? And, further, when the two articles were at hand, viz., nature and labor, how should they be so blended as to produce the desired result? Metallic ores and labor would never have formed a steam engine without the original genius of the inventor, and thus we see that a third element is needed, the element of mind, or commanding intelligence. Hence when we look at any great and powerful empire where the arts and sciences have vied with each other to produce wealth, comfort and refinement, we perceive that the whole has been brought about by the union of these three forces, viz., nature, labor, and mind. The next question is, in what proportions are these three ingredients found? The first is co-extensive with the earth itself, and the light that shines upon it. The second is limited by the strength and endurance of men and animals, together with the stores of energy that the former are capable of making nature yield. The third is a much scarcer article, as few men possess inventive genius, originality or power to lead; without which even skilled labor can accomplish little. Those in fact, who are able to tap new sources of energy, and thereby render assistance to millions are exceedingly rare. Now the question arises, in the distribution of rewards that the world yields, should all men receive alike, or should distribution be made accordingly as men are differentiated from each other? Should the rarest gift? Gold brings a high price on account of its scarceness. Large diamonds and rubies are of immense value because in the world there are few of them; and it seems but natural to suppose that the rarest gem of all should fetch the highest price in the market, if sold at its money value. There have, of course, been, and are now, men like Michael Faraday, who have lived and died so that the nations might be enriched by the splendor of their intellects; but we have no right to compel or expect all men to do the same. It is human nature to hold on to all that can be grasped. Nor do I think that the legislative powers of any country will be prepared to interfere with the rights of personal property so as to put it in the power of the expected to do so. In the early church we read that on account of troubled times men "had things common," they gave up their wealth of their own free choice, that they might obtain the approval of God. Nor do I believe that there will ever be any power on earth that will cause the rich to relieve the wants of the poor, save the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Revolutions there have been, revolutions there doubtless will be in the future, but such violent convulsions will never produce equality.

My conviction is that a highly Christian and scientific education for all men will alone solve the difficulties between labor and capital. Raise the mental standard of the people. Let every youth learn that "knowledge is power," and that there are rude forces of nature about him that he may enlist and compel to do slavish work for him. That these forces work without murmur or fatigue, and that we are only now beginning to tap our inexhaustible supply of energy, and he will soon discover the means of lessening the hours of daily work. Already is steam doing as much work as the whole working population of the globe! Follow in the path where this leads, and let steam and electricity do all that is painful in labor, and men may then with justice expect a full day's pay for a half day's work. Let the time come speedily when unskilled laborers shall rest among the fossils of the past; let all men be artisans and skilled workmen and the rest of the world's work be accomplished by unthinking force. Then every man may sit under his own vine and under his own fig tree and spend a large portion of each day in the improvement of his mind. In that, I mean to say that a skilled workman is not a laborer, or throw disparagement upon mere work. Labor is a blessing, not a curse. If God had intended men to live without work, he would have made their clothes grow upon their backs, and furnished houses to spring out of the earth. God who has made the earth, sea and air has made nothing to be idle. Employment in some shape or other would seem to be appointed to every living thing. The highest angels of heaven have their work, and the most minute of the earth's insects must be busy or perish. All nature lifts her voice against idleness. As far as the eye can penetrate into the great depths of space, all is upheld in being and order by constant agitation. It is the running water that keeps trees and air fanned by winds that are wholesome. Christ speaks of His Father as a worker when he says, "My Father worketh hitherto," and he adds, "and I work." No man ever worked harder than Jesus, both physically and mentally. I am myself exceedingly fond of work, and I believe all healthy men are. It brings fatigue, the rest that follows is sweet and refreshing, and the two combined conduce to form a fine, healthy, physical frame, without which even mental endowments are almost worthless.

With regard to the "eight hour question," I think when it can be accomplished without forming a stumbling block in the way of all progress, it is most desirable, and I fully sympathize with those who desire more time for mental culture and the gaining of more knowledge of the very wonderful and beautiful world in which God has placed us. Our time here is very short and it should not all be taken up in making bricks. Let us see rather the full superstructure rise, whose towers shall reach to heaven.

Before, however, this happy state of things can be brought about, there are other questions that have to be solved. Workmen who join unions are not the only class suffering from long hours. Merchants, storekeepers and many professional men have much longer hours than they, and are often engaged in work much less interesting and healthful. There is also a class that is much nearer related to the working men than these, I allude to their wives. In excluding cheap labor we have excluded the only possibility of these receiving any help whatever, and I am perfectly satisfied that a woman who has to attend to a family of children, as well as prepare her husband's meals, and is engaged at this work from early morning till late at night, knows more of the drudgery of life than her husband, who works at his handicraft for a period of nine hours, and is free. If complaint is raised against work, where are we to find the remedy for this? The women of some nations have sought their own remedy; but alas, it is one fatal to national prosperity, and one that in the long run must bring about the extinction of those peoples.

In conclusion, let me add that while I think the object of the present agitation a most desirable one, I believe the time chosen for it in this province is inopportune. I would rather see the object successfully accomplished first in older countries. A new country like our own stands most in need of labor, and nothing but labor can develop the vast resources and immense treasure that God has placed within our reach. To kick against this is to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. In fact, no man should dream of coming to a new country who is not prepared to do more work than would be expected from him elsewhere. I believe that in no part of the world are working men as well off as they are here. The larger portion of them are living in their own houses and cultivating their own gardens. Their children receive a most excellent education free of cost, and the highest positions in the state are thrown open to them. These, together with exquisite scenery and a lovely climate, should not be lightly thought of; indeed I have often heard it expressed that British Columbia is "the working man's paradise."

The Queen's Last Ball.

As always, the Queen's ball was what Lord Beaconsfield would call a "brilliant and numerous assemblage," and the crowd in the dancing room seemed denser than ever. The Princess of Wales was dressed in mauve, with the diamond tiara which was presented to her on her silver wedding. She and the other Princesses wore the scarlet ribbon of the Order of St. Catharine of Russia, in honor of the guest of the evening, the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, who was by birth a Russian Princess, and is well known to our travelling countrymen as virtually the Queen of the Cannes. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh wore Highland costumes of Royal Stuart tartan, and it must frankly be admitted that the kilt is a garment which does not easily adapt itself to the comfortable configuration of middle age. The simple uniform of the Rifle Brigade, the Duke of Cambridge was in his field marshal's uniform, and the Duke of Clarence, who danced the opening quadrille with his aunt, Princess Louise, looked the very model of a smart hussar. The Duchess of Teck did not dance, but serenely contemplated the festive scene from her chair on the haut-pas. The best displays of diamonds were shown by the Duchess of Bedford and the Duchess of Abercorn. Just as the Royal party processed reached the dais an unfortunate accident occurred. Lord Lathom, the most graceful and court-like of lord chamberlains, was walking backwards before the Prince of Wales and the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin when, miscalculating his distance, he tripped against the edge of the dais and came down on his back as one falls on a skating rink. For a moment his arms and white legs struggled in the air, but he recovered himself with dexterous grace, and though Lord Cross might have "heard a smile," the Royal party kept their countenances with commendable gravity. Lord Lathom, who toppled over, visited Victoria last summer.

And whereas it has been found by computation that the rate hereinafter mentioned will be sufficient for the purposes aforesaid and that it is expedient that such rate be levied and imposed:

Therefore be it enacted by the Mayor and Aldermen of the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

From and after the final passage of this By-Law the rate to be levied and imposed for the purpose of raising annually a sum necessary to pay the interest upon and provide a sinking fund to meet the whole of such debentures shall be 13-1000 of 1 per cent., which said rate shall be annually levied, imposed and collected on all real estate and improvements thereon within the corporate limits of the City of Victoria.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN LABOR-ERS CONTRASTED.

Apropos of the eight hour a day agitation, Mr. J. W. POSTGATE, an American journalist, has been studying the condition of the workingmen in England, for the purpose of reporting thereon to a Chicago paper. Mr. POSTGATE's report will contain information that will be news to many on this side of the Atlantic. Generally, he says, all classes of laborers in England work shorter hours, earn higher wages and are able to purchase more comforts for a given sum than the same class in the United States. The miners in the North of England are better off, both as regards hours of labor, the wages they obtain, and the houses they inhabit, than the miners of Illinois and Pennsylvania. It is possible that, owing to atmospheric and other conditions, men can work longer in America without getting exhausted than they can in England. Be this as it may, there is a difference of two or three hours every day between the number of hours worked in the pits in England and the number of hours worked in the pits in the United States. In the matter of holidays, Mr. POSTGATE also admits that the greater frequency of those breathing spells for miners and workingmen generally give to the laborers in England a great advantage over their brothers in America, and makes their lives better worth living. We confess that we have always thought that the workingman's lot was easier in this country, but at least in respect to the laborious and dangerous occupation of mining, if we are to contrast the situation of affairs at Wellington and in the coal regions of England, it would appear that we must revise our opinion.

THE GRENADIERS.

The trouble in the Grenadier Guards, which has resulted in their banishment from England for three years, is said to have caused the Queen a great deal of anxiety. This is said to be the first time in the history of the regiment that it has been ordered abroad in time of peace, its duty, as a battalion of the "household troops," principally confining it to the neighborhood of Buckingham palace and Marlborough House. The circumstances which led to the banishment of the 2nd Battalion are about as follows: A few weeks ago, Col. MAITLAND, the officer in command, who has the reputation of being a martinet, ordered a "kit inspection" in "heavy marching order" for 8.30 o'clock in the morning of the 8th inst. The order was received by the battalion on the evening of the 7th, on which day a double guard duty had been performed, and the men rebelled at what they thought excessive work. When the eight o'clock parade only some half-dozen fell in, the rest remaining in their rooms in the barracks. Col. MAITLAND then sent the officers to their respective company quarters to bring the men down, and the latter came on parade and fell in quietly. There was no disturbance, but the refusal to obey the bugle call was, of course, a serious breach of discipline, which could not be overlooked, no matter how real the grievances of the men might have been. Accordingly, the battalion has been ordered into military exile as a punishment for its insubordination, and it sailed a week ago for Bermuda.

The history of the Grenadier Guards extends back to 1664, and covers since that time many of the most brilliant achievements of British arms. It appears that the men were hardly treated and had a right to complain of excessive drills, but it has also been suggested that the men have become imbued with socialistic principles. It seems as though to maintain discipline, no other course was open to the authorities. As a contemporary remarks:

"Three years' service in Bermuda will doubtless render the men eager to return home to duties which, at the worst, are not intolerable. By that time, perhaps, the nation will have forgotten the offence which has marred the fame of the regiment which 'stood firm at Fontenoy; turned the tide of battle at Quatre Bras; withstood, unshaken, the assaults of Napoleon's brilliant chivalry at Waterloo; and ascended, with stately movement, the bristling heights of the Alma'."

THE AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITION.

If there is one thing that all classes, creeds and conditions of men can unite upon, it is the Agricultural, Horticultural and Industrial Exhibition which the British Columbia Agricultural Association propose holding in this city in the month of October next. When the Association split last year at New Westminster, it was admitted by all who are familiar with the successful working of such institutions that the time was opportune for establishing two associations, and that the two great districts of the Province might each profitably hold its own exhibition. The peripatetic show of Ontario, known for many years as the "Provincial," was not always an unqualified success, and in later years especially it was completely overshadowed by the great central fairs of Toronto, London and the other cities. An exhibition to obtain a character and reputation of its own, must be a fixture, and hence we believe that although the organization of two associations was primarily due to selfishness, the ultimate effect will be beneficial to both sections.

The directors of the British Columbia Agricultural Association have issued their premium list, copies of which can be procured from the Secretary, Mr. C. E. Renouf, of this city. Very liberal prizes, we observe, are offered in every class, and especially in live stock, for which cash premiums of fifteen, twenty and twenty five dollars are numerous. The prizes offered by the society have been supplemented with large special prizes which, added to all the other incentives to competition, will undoubtedly ensure a successful show.

If there is a place in Canada that is able to maintain an annual exhibition of a superior character in all the natural products, that place is Victoria. Our Province excels in cereals, in roots and in fruits. Our average productions are not inferior to the best of Ontario or Manitoba, which boast of being the garden provinces of the Dominion. And if the first object of these shows is to encourage the agriculturist, no one will dispute the need of a permanent exhibition in this city. Farming by being encouraged will be popularized, and more people will engage in it as an occupation. We have in the neighborhood of Victoria hundreds of acres of arable land, which might, by intelligent industry, be made to blossom like the rose, and prove a source of wealth and happiness to a large population.

The citizens of Victoria will, we feel convinced, give the exhibition every assistance in their power. They can best help the directorate by becoming exhibitors and by taking an active part in the show.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Eastward the star of empire takes its way. The Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture of Maine has received a letter from a man in Dakota who wishes to emigrate to Eastern New England.

The leading tailors of London are convinced that the day of the cross-saddle for ladies is really at hand. The idea is making headway in the metropolis. It seems that no less than seven women gave their word to ride cross-saddle at the meeting of the Coaching Club. But two of the number fell out, then two more deserted, and so on, till at last the number dwindled down to one.

According to a telegram, "lightning struck a man in Springfield, Ohio, killed him, burned the sign of the cross on his back, and then dug a hole in the ground behind him the exact size and shape of a grave." It is also rumored that the electric bolt paid all the funeral expenses, ordered a monument for his grave and offered to marry his widow, but this report lacks confirmation.

The first monument ever raised in St. Paul's Cathedral to any colonial Englishman was unveiled recently by Lord ROSEBERY. It is a memorial to Mr. DALLEY, that Minister of New South Wales who in 1884 sent Australian troops to reinforce the British at Soakim. "We consecrate it," said Lord ROSEBERY, "with sympathy and reverence to the memory of one who was not merely a colonial Minister, but an Imperial statesman."

The mania—for it can hardly be called anything else—for the edition de luxe of Stanley's "In Darkest Africa" seems to be not yet at its height, for £20 is now the price demanded for a book which was published only a few days ago at £10 10s. The two guinea edition of the work has been exhausted in a week, and the publishers are certainly to be congratulated on the celerity with which 18,000 copies have been snapped up by the trade, the libraries, and private purchasers. It may be added that the edition was neither more nor less—in spite of statements to the contrary—than 18,000.

A project is on foot in Vienna which might be adopted by Ald. HARRISON to improve James Bay bridge out of existence. It is proposed to span the Danube Canal in Vienna with a bridge lined with shops, after the model of the famous Ponte Rialto at Venice, and the Arno Bridge at Florence. The structure is to be exclusively of iron. It will be sixty-four metres long and forty-eight wide—one of the broadest in the world. The carriageway will be twelve metres wide, and the interior footpath on either side, three. The inner railings will be flanked by footpaths four metres in width. There will be sixty-eight shops on the new bridge.

Notices have repeatedly been published of a coming discovery which would enable a telephone operator to see as well as hear his interlocuter at the other end, and at last this discovery has been completed. It is reported that during the postoffice jubilee celebration, an instrument was shown, invented by Prof. HUGHES, F. R. S., and Mr. PREECE, which enables anyone speaking into a telephone to see his correspondent at the other end, the "image appearing like an animated colored photograph." The distance covered in the experiments shown was only thirty feet, and it still remains to be seen to what distance light will travel over the wires; but there is no reason why "visuality" should not be established as far as audibleness has been. If it is, the electricians will have realized one of the dreams of the Middle Age physiologists, and have struck one more blow to diminish the separating influence of time and space. It will follow, we presume, that it will be possible not only to recognize but to photograph a face miles distant, a triumph of science which, though probably useless, strikes the imagination almost as much as the revelation of unseen stars on sensitized paper.

The King of the Belgians has publicly contradicted a report to the effect that he was more than willing to sell out the Congo State, and has also made it clear that Belgium is to be the owner of the State and that he expects the Belgians to hold it forever. France has been casting envious eyes upon the Congo State and it is said Germany also expects to obtain it and thus found a great state, stretching clear across Africa from the Indian Ocean to the Atlantic. It is not many kings who have the happiness of adding to the territories of their peoples without bloodshed and without cost to the people as King LEOPOLD, who has spent freely out of his fortune to purchase and found the Congo Free State, has been able to do. Belgium has an area of only eleven thousand square miles, with a population of about six millions. The Congo State, the King's great possession, has an area of eleven hundred thousand square miles, or about one-third as large as the continent of Europe, and is inhabited by about forty millions of people, according to the latest estimates. In the light of Germany and England's squabbles over the east coast King LEOPOLD's foresight in securing the lion's share of Central Africa from the west is admirable.

A Warning.

MR. EDITOR,—It is a well-known fact that the majority of people are inclined to look upon a cold in the head as a matter of little importance—involving at the most only a temporary inconvenience. No more disastrous mistake was ever made. The neglected cold in the head is the source of the catarrhal affections with which about seven-tenths of the people of this country are afflicted, and catarrh itself is too often the preliminary stages to consumption and death. The symptoms of catarrh are manifold, but among them may be mentioned, offensive breath; dull, oppressive headache; offensive droppings from the nostrils into the throat and bronchial tubes; deafness or partial deafness; constant hawking and spitting; weak watery eyes; a hacking cough and feeling of general debility; ringing in the ears and frequent dizziness. These are but a few of the more general symptoms, and those who experience them should lose no time in applying a remedy. Delays are proverbially dangerous, and in the case of this too prevalent disease may lead to death. We offer Nasal Balm to the public as a positive cure for cold in the head and for catarrh in all its forms and stages. Nasal Balm has been tested in thousands of cases, and the testimonials in our possession prove that it is all we claim for it. It has cured other sufferers, it will cure you. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable and does not require a douche, or any torturing instrument to apply it. Given a fair trial, Nasal Balm will prove of great efficacy. Sold by all dealers or sent post free on receipt of price 50c. for small or $1 for large size bottles by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont. daw

How Jovely Destroyed a Tyrant Chief and Became a Hero—The Miner's Yarn Sung by Jack—General Observations, Etc., Etc.

"Well, as I was saying," said the judge, not to be interrupted by trifles, "there is a village to the north of Grenville channel called Kitkahtla, and once there lived there a great chief who seemsto have been something of a bully. He had enslaved the whole tribe and not one dared to disobey him. During the halibut season he would go round the banks with his canoe manned with several slaves and exact a tribute of half the fish that were caught. Now this didn't suit the views of the other people, but they didn't think it would be expedient to refuse. But one day he came to Jovely's canoe and wanted half the catch. Poor Jovely said the fishing was very bad, his wife and children were hungry and he couldn't afford it. So he gave up two of his three fish and the chief went away. Then Jovely sat down and felt bad. All that night he worked in the house making a hoop of strong withes. Next morning he said goodbye to the wife and kissed the children, and went away with his hoop in the canoe to the fishing banks. All that day he got only two halibut for the fishing was bad. Then the chief came and wanted a fish and was angry because there were not more. To his surprise Jovely calmly told him to come and get it. The chief in a great temper jumped into the canoe to get his fish, but as he bent down Jovely threw the hoop over both their heads and shoulders, and then he leaped down into the sea and swam down strongly carrying the tyrant with him until both were drowned, and now if a man in that village wants to call a neighbor brave he says 'you are like Jovely who saved his people from the tyrant chief.'"

"Thunder! this hurts. Let us off with that one. Judge its my night to howl!" and so Jack sang.

"THE GOLD MINER."

Gold has been set in earth's bottomless foundings,
Hid in the walls of impassable streams;
Cold 'neath the depths of our uttermost soundings,
High in the snowy Sierras it gleams.
Poachers and bears share that savage seclusion
Hard are the ways where the gold seeker fares
Mountain chains hard'n in the wildest confusion,
Fearful the odds that the gold seeker dares.

"Hope on" and "dare" are the watchwords to nerve us,
Striking not, fearing not, seeking not praise
Iron hearts, nerves as of steel shall preserve us.
Harvest of gold shall the wild mountains raise
True to the death shall we be in our dealing
Share what we have with another man's need
Speak face to face, without fear or concealing.
Men in our word makes, and man in our deed.
Gold on the mountains!

Men in our earning, and men in our spending.
Others shall worship the dust in their gospel.
We gave the gold, let the Jews do the lending
Ours is the strength mates, let theirs be the need.
Canons—Canyons and glaciers, torrents and gorges,
High soaring crests, and still lakes down below.
These know the gold that the solitude forges—
True gold of manhood, and pure as the snow!
1st half chorus—Mountain and glaciers.
2nd half chorus—Gold on the mountains.

Lost creek Jim leant out of the bunk and said quietly "Jack, you made that song yourself!" Then with a half sob, "God bless you Jack that done me more good—"

"What, you wrote that?"

"You, Jack?"

"God bless you, as Jim says!"

"God bless you!"

"God bless you!"

SPORTING NOTES.

Brief Resume of Sporting Matters Here and Elsewhere.

W. Howard Chandler, captain of the Toronto Bicycle Club, and M. H. Irish, another member of the club, are in the city awaiting the departure of the Elder for Alaska, where they intend to go on a trip. Chandler is well known among the bicyclists of the world, having made a European tour some years ago, and has also been over almost every route in America. He intends to be at Winnipeg on the 23rd of August, the day on which the Northwest tournament is to be held, for which he has been asked to act as starter on that day.

BERESFORD V. NANAIMO.

Played at Nanaimo on Saturday last the 26th inst. The Nanaimo eleven won the toss, who placed the Beresfords in the field, Nott and Dixon to bat for the home team. The former was bowled by a good ball by Foster for 0, and the latter also bowled by Maltby for 0. Farmer played a good wicket for 18 and Hodgson with a score of 22 did some hard hitting. The total of the first innings for Nanaimo was 66. One thing must be said in favor of the Beresfords and that is that Foster and Maltby were unable to get on the wicket, due undoubtedly to an unavoidably bad pitch. The wicket, moreover, was very uncertain. The first innings of the Beresford Cricket Club was most unfortunate, no fewer than six of the eleven being caught. Thomas was caught at point with his first ball. Field also was caught at long slip and King, by a really fine catch by Wilkinson at long on. The score of the Beresford's first innings only reached 33. For the second innings of Nanaimo they put up a score of 92. The only double figures being that of Potts, namely 17, who exhibited some good cricket. Dixon and Foster bowling for the Beresfords was conspicuous and in fact, the all round fielding of the visiting club was smart and the bowling good, under the circumstances. Time was fixed for 7.30, at 7.20, with Field and Short at the wickets for the Beresfords in their second innings. 19 runs were needed to win the match. Great excitement prevailed and even at this stage the members and friends of the Nanaimo Cricket Club were sanguine on the part of success of the home eleven. The light was bad which added to their chance of victory. Field drove a ball for 3, and with a score of 9 not out, just managed to top the Nanaimo score by 8 runs. Maltby's innings of 36 runs showed excellent cricket and King's 11 was creditable. Ferrar in the second innings one of the Beresford's best bats was caught by Poots at an early stage of his batting. Clayton played well and in fact, the Beresford's played a very plucky and uphill game. The Nanaimoites regretted that after so promising a chance of success such a determined stand should have been made by the Victorians. At the end of the first innings the case looked very hopeless indeed for the visitors. The return match will be played at Beacon Hill on Saturday the 16th of August next. The following are the scores, viz:

HERE AND THERE.

A race between two well known knights of the trowel, Messrs. Hodges and Snyder, is said to be on the tapis. The contest is to settle a dispute as to who can make the best time from James Bay bridge up the Arm and around Deadman's Island. Both say they will win, but one must be mistaken.

SOUTHERN KOOTENAY.

From the Miner, July 19.]

The Royal Canadian, a claim on Forty-nine creek, owned by French boys, is said to be looking well. The ore is gold, similar to the Poorman.

Among the arrivals at Nelson during the week were Bishop and Mrs. Sillitoe of New Westminster, Mr. and Mrs. Boyle, of England, Dr. and Mrs. Hendryx, of Galena Bay, Mrs. Cole, of Kootenay, Idaho, and Dr. Campbell of Revelstoke. Dr. Campbell is manager and Mr. Boyle president of the syndicate who built the smelter at Revelstoke, and their supposed object in visiting the lake country is to make arrangements for the purchase of ore. Accompanied by Mrs. Boyle, they took the Galena for Hot Springs on Wednesday.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Appointment of New Teachers and Other Business Disposed of.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of school trustees was held in the city hall last evening, with Trustee Hayward in the chair and Messrs. Hall, Mallette, Walker, Erskine and Mallandaine present. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and accepted the secretary read the following

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Government Auditor, saying that he did not think that a bill for $5 incurred by the late board by having a notarial copy made of the Windsby letter, should be paid by the government.

A special committee was appointed to interview the Provincial secretary in regard to it.

The monthly accounts were referred to the finance committee to be paid if found correct.

The reports from the different schools showed the number of pupils attending to be 1307; average daily attendance, 1,152.92; attendance per teacher, 44.42.

Trustee Erskine drew the board's attention to the fact that the junior divisions of the ward school were crowded into a small room, whereas the senior division, which were only about half the size of the junior ones, had more than enough room in their part of the building. A special committee was appointed to interview the Supt. of Education and see if some change could not be made.

The same committee were also appointed to see the superintendent in regard to the promotion of pupils, a matter in which there was some misunderstanding.

Trustee Hayward said some of the reports showed that some of the children who obtained 60 per cent were promoted, while others who obtained 71 per cent were not. It might be that those who obtained 71 per cent missed in certain subjects, while those obtaining 60 per cent passed in all subjects.

A number of applications were then read for vacancies in the different schools and the board moved themselves into a committee of the whole to discuss them.

After having been in committee for some time the following were appointed the full teaching staff of the Victoria schools. Those names marked with asterisk are new appointments:

FROM ALASKA.

A Big Whisky Seizure at Juneau—Trouble with Indians.

The City of Topeka, Capt. Wallace, arrived on Saturday last from Alaskan ports, bringing mail advices to the 17th of July.

On the night of July 10th an attempt was made to land about 200 gallons of British Columbia whisky in Juneau. The liquor had been brought from Port Simpson, and from indications word of its coming had been sent in advance, and therefore it was being looked for. This is one of the largest seizures ever made in Juneau. Mr. Wentworth, the customs officer at Juneau, had just been put on duty and was closely guarding the shore line, when he discovered a large canoe steadily gliding over the placid waters heading for the place named above. He hid himself behind one of the piles and when the canoe touched the beach, in the name of the United States he took possession of the craft and its liquid contents. A warrant was issued next morning for the arrest of the parties, but they had flown. This was Mr. Wentworth's first night on duty, and to him alone belongs the credit of the seizure, and he has also made for himself a record of having in one night seized more liquor than the rest of the force during the year or more they have been in office.

A report reached Juneau of a "big strike" being made between Juneau and Sanoduni Bay. The ledge is of a good width and the croppings show free gold. There is every indication that there is a continuous mineral belt extending from above Berner Bay for distance of more than two hundred miles down the coast. This belt has been but little prospected except in Silver Bow Basin and vicinity, Berner Bay and a few other points. When every prospector commences to work for a few miles distance from the shore line and along this belt, the result is a new discovery.

The schooner Active, William Murphy captain, arrived in Sitka July 12th, from Sitkoh Bay, Pearl Straits, reporting that the Indians in that section are preventing white men from fishing, claiming that the right to the open and navigable waters of the bay, some five or six miles in length, is owned by them exclusively. The circumstances being reported to Captain Farnholt, of the Pinta, he sent a squad of marines in charge of Lieutenant R. E. Coontz, for the scene of the trouble, some 65 miles southeast of Sitka. It is confidently believed that the misunderstanding will be settled without any bloodshed.

A report comes from Loring to the effect that the run of salmon thus far is enormously large, and the catch has been greater than could be handled by the present force, so more men have been sent for. Reports from other fishing stations are that salmon have not commenced to run very extensively as yet, but all anticipate a good season.

John Hawthorne, who was employed at the last farm of ours for the Liquor manufacture of distilled spirits, has entered at Sitka right [illegible] improvement, and all pay [illegible] $1,000.

Appointment.

J. Montague Leet has been appointed by the Government of Manitoba, commissioner for that Province for taking affidavits outside the Province to be used within it. Mr. Leet has also received a similar appointment from the Government of his native Province, Ontario.

I. O. G. T.

The election of officers in the different lodges of I. O. G. T. will take place this week, commencing to-night, when Perseverance Lodge will elect theirs. To-morrow night Victoria West and on Thursday the Esquimalt lodge will hold their elections. The new officers will be installed next week.

Steamer Emma Seized.

The steamer Emma, owned by James A. Laidlaw, Esq., has been seized by United States custom officials whilst lying in British waters off the fishing grounds near Point Roberts. Presumably she was seized for being in American waters without the necessary papers. There is quite an excitement at Ladner's over the new fisheries question.

Steamer Changes.

Some changes have taken place among the officers of the steamer Rainbow. Engineer Thomson's place has been taken by Mr. Fleming during Mr. Thomson's absence east. Capt. Collis, formerly in command, has left and his place has been taken by Capt. Thomas Bentley, formerly of the steamer Hope.

Engineer Rogers, of the steamer Robt. Dunsmuir, will in a few days take a holiday of a couple of months going to Prince for a trip. His place will be filled meantime by Mr. J. Walters, formerly of the Imperial Chinese service.

Exaggerated.

The steamer Jennie arrived at Nanaimo yesterday afternoon from Alaska and reports all well. One of the officers was seen by a Free Press reporter in reference to the reported murder of the second engineer, and he was quite surprised on learning what had been reported in all the newspapers along the coast, as everything had gone on most delightfully on board that vessel. He informed the reporter that the trouble was between the engineers of a vessel named the Klak, belonging to Shaw's cannery. They were having a few words when all of a sudden they had a scuffle and the chief fell in among the machinery and broke his thigh, from which lockjaw set in and he died the same day.—Free Press.

The report referred to was first published in the Port Townsend Leader, which paper put a very high color on the alleged murder.

Many so-called diseases are simply symptoms of Catarrh, such as headache, partial deafness, loring losses of smell, foul breath, hawking and spitting, hacking, general feeling of debility, etc. If you are troubled with any of these or kindred symptoms, you have Catarrh, and should lose no time in procuring a bottle of Nasal Balm. Be warned in time, neglected cold in head results in Catarrh, followed by consumption and death. Nasal Balm is sold by all druggists, or will be sent, post paid, on receipt of price (50 cents and $1.00) by addressing Park Commissioners.

A notice of motion has been posted on the bulletin board at the city hall, in which Ald. Goodacre states that he shall ask leave at the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen for permission to introduce a by-law to deal with the appointment of three park commissioners.

May Compromise.

Two Missouri detectives came over in last night's steamer looking for the embezzler Reed. As the latter's offence was committed before the extradition dealing with that particular crime came into force, it will be a useless trip for them, for unless Reed lets them get a crack on him on United States territory he has nothing to fear. It is rumored that a compromise is sought for; that if a part of the cash is returned the prosecution will cease, and Reed be at liberty to return.

Vino Scolletti Italiano.

At Dixi H. Ross & Co.

Living in Hope.

Such has been the case for a length of time with a large number of this community, daily looking for and enquiring after the arrival of our large stock on the way. To such, Hasler & Erskine have pleasure in announcing that another carload of elegant Bedroom Suits, Extension Tables, Bookcases, Sideboards, etc., have arrived, and that they will be sold CHEAP for CASH at 62 Government street.

Adrift on a Raft.

The other morning as the Premier was going down sound, Capt. O'Brien spied a raft of timber with four men on it drifting out to sea. The raft was below Allen's island and almost opposite Deception pass, and a strong current was running at the time. When the raft was picked up the men were in an exhausted condition. The Premier took the raft in tow and landed it at Anacortes. Capt. O'Brien is confident that had he not seen them they would soon have drifted out of the line of boats and would probably have gone out to the ocean.

Excursionists Return.

The steamer Queen, Capt. Carroll, arrived at the outer wharf early this morning from Alaska after a very pleasant trip. Everyone of the 200 passengers who went up speak in high terms of the ship's company and also of the Alaska route.

Reports from Silver Bow basin are very encouraging and the people of Juneau are greatly excited over the prospects of the mine. Capt. Carroll, of the Queen, is one of the owners of the Silver Bow.

The Queen brought no news outside what was brought by the Topeka.

The general impression at Juneau about the Bear's Nest is that it is no good.

The Coming Attraction.

"A Pair of Jacks," which comes to the Victoria Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, is the most recent addition to the list of successful farce-comedies, and it is engaged in record breaking from the start. Its immediate financial success has rather astounded managers, who have been accustomed to see farce comedies gain their way to the front by slow and uphill work. A clever company is engaged in the production. B. G. Knowles, W. C. Russell, Sol Aiken, John P. Savage, Julius Witmark and Ernest Sinclair furnish the comedy work. Mollie Thompson, Telluis Evans, Nina Heyward, Julia Aiken, Winifred Johnson, Alice Green and Margery Thompson are tuneful and pretty girls, and introduce variety and interesting specialties.

Back From Trisco.

Mr. H. Kessler, the well known general foreman of the Albion Iron Works, has returned from a two weeks' trip to 'Frisco. His wife and family also came up with him. Mr. Kessler says that while in 'Frisco he had a look at the new U. S. cruiser San Francisco, just completed by the Union Iron Works. He does not think the new cruiser will come up to the Charleston in the matter of speed, as her model is not so fine. She is a strong, able vessel, however, and her engines are triumphs of engineering skill. Speaking of the iron moulders' strike at Frisco, Mr. Kessler says it has had the effect of injuring the iron business there considerably, and there are no immediate prospects of a settlement of the difficulty. While enjoying his brief visit very much, Mr. Kessler was glad to get back to Victoria again, which he considers the best residential city on the coast.

Arrested at Vancouver.

On Saturday afternoon Sergt. Langley, of the provincial police, received a telegram from detective Sullivan of Portland, asking him to arrest a man named Winter, formerly a steward on on one of the Sound boats. Winter is wanted for forgery, having signed the name of J. Seiwood to a check for $2,000 on the National Bank of Tacoma. Sergt. Langley immediately sent the telegram to officer Redgrave of the Victoria police, who was in Vancouver at the time. Officers Redgrave and Levin, both of the Victoria force, put their heads together, and from private information received, tracked him to the steamer Batavia, on which boat he had taken passage for Yokohama. The officers then handed their man over to the Vancouver police, who held him until Sergt. Langley arrived this morning and took him in charge.

For Pleasure Only.

The Hon. the Minister of Customs, taking into consideration the fact that a great many pleasure resorts on the Canadian waters are annually visited by tourists from the United States, and wishing to encourage such visits in all feasible ways, has issued an order making it allowable for steam yachts and other craft belonging to American owners, to ply in Canadian waters without the formality of entering and clearing as vessels, or of paying duty. That is, an American can come here in his steam yacht, and can cruise in the waters here, touching at different points, provided that she is only used by the owner for pleasure purposes and not for traffic or the carrying of passengers for pay. The owner has to make a bond to this effect, and can then enjoy the privilege of his own boat.

Queer world! Queer people! Here are men and women by thousands suffering from all sorts of diseases, bearing all manners of pain, spending their all on physicians and "getting no better, but rather worse," when right at hand there's a remedy which says it can help them because it's helped thousands like them. "Another patent medicine advertisement," you say. Yes—but not of the ordinary sort. The medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and it's different from the ordinary nostrums in this:

It cures, when others only claim to do so, or else it costs you nothing!

The way is this: You pay your druggist $1.00 for a bottle. You read the directions, and you follow them. You get better, or you don't. If you do, you buy another bottle, and perhaps another. If you don't get better, you get your money back. And the queer thing is that so many people are willing to be sick when the remedy's so near at hand.

Save Your Time, Patience and Money by using Pendray's Shoe Blacking, Stove Polish, and Laundry Blue.

Darkness Supreme.

The city electric lights have for some time been shedding their radiance over the city in a manner calculated to give satisfaction to the most fastidious, but last night proved an exception, and darkness most profound reigned instead. Just what was the matter nobody seems to know.

Mothers and Nurses.

All who have the care of children should know that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry may be confidently depended on to cure all summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, cholera infantum, cholera morbus, canker, etc., in children or adults.

DOES IT PAY TO ADVERTISE?

Well, That Depends.

It has paid us. On Saturday, the 5th instant, we advertised 20 per cent. off all Clothing. We have been rushing ever since, although some of our customers had to climb over a pile of rubbish about as high as a six-rail fence. If the streets were all full of rubbish it would be better for the town. It's a sign of progress.

OUR SALE STILL CONTINUES. We are bound to clean out our summer stocks. Better lose our profit than carry them over. We have piles of BOYS' SUITS left. We are not selling as many as we expected. Probably on account of the difficulty in getting to our store.

Ladies, it will pay you to go around the block. We mean to clear them out. You SAVE 20 PER CENT. on all Clothing.

AGAIN REMANDED.

Leclaire the Alleged Robber Remanded Until To-Morrow.

The only case that came up before his honor this morning was that of P. Leclaire, charged with stealing $900 from W. McNell. When the case was called a rather pompous looking individual stepped to the front and addressing his honor stated that he was an American attorney and asked that he be allowed to plead for the prisoner. His honor informed him that there were lots of lawyers in British Columbia who had spent quite a sum to be allowed to practice, and at any rate he would not listen to the attorney from the States, who, however, took down notes as the case proceeded, and watched the proceedings with a very wise look. The case then proceeded and Wm. McNell, the prosecutor, was called, and recognized a $50 bill produced as one that had been stolen from him at the Vancouver House.

R. J. Ferguson swore that the prisoner had changed the bill recognized by Mr. McNell at his house. When he came there he was in a very nervous state and seemed to be anxious about the steamer that was leaving for the Sound.

R. J. Shaw, a bartender at the American Hotel, said that the prisoner came to his room at 6.30 on Sunday morning and showed him a $100 bill which he said he had found. The man had been around before and had spent small sums of money.

After several minor witnesses had been heard the case was remanded until to-morrow.

Mr. M. King, the great logging man, came down from King & Casey's camp, Vables Island, last night. He reports things going on well, with lots of logs being got out. One boom of 1,500,000 feet was towed to Vancouver by the Tepic on Sunday, and over a million feet is yet in the water. The steamer Hope will soon take out a half a million feet, and over two million feet for Sayward are left. The big boom taken by the Tepic is for H. B. Morse & Co. of Vancouver.

A Quiet Wedding.

Mr. Jas. Hastie and Miss Nettie Netherby were last evening united in marriage at the residence of the bride's father S. R. Netherby, Chatham street, by the Rev. D. Fraser. The wedding was a very quiet one only the relatives and friends of the contracting parties being present. W. C. Douglas was best man and Miss Jennie Dalby acted as bridesmaid. After the wedding, which occurred early in the evening the happy couple took passage on the steamer Kingston to spend their honeymoon on the Sound.

Another Vague Idea.

It is rumored that the Canadian Pacific Steam Navigation Company's big steamer Islander has been sold to the Northern Pacific Company. This craft is one of the finest in the fleet of Northwest coast vessels, and is a regular ocean liner. If this rumor is correct, it proves that the Northern Pacific is calculating on putting a first-class steamer regularly on the Alaskan run during the summer excursion season. General Manager D. B. Jackson seems to be the only man who knows anything about the company's steamer line and its intentions concerning it. As he is in the east, a verification of the rumor regarding the purchase of the Islander could not be obtained.—Port Townsend Leader. The Leader is a little off again, as the C. P. N. officials in this city have not yet heard of the deal.

In the Cold Fraser; A Close Call.

About 4:30 a. m. on Sunday morning, 27th inst., Mr. Abel Helmer, watchman of the B. C. Canning Co.'s cannery, Lease Island, heard cries of distress and on investigating found a man calling for assistance. Messrs. William C. Pope, book-keeper, and G. W. Brewster, bathman, were quickly with Helmer and rowed about a mile towards Ladner's Landing where they discovered two young men, Huson and Blackburn, from English's cannery, in mid-stream. Their frail boat had capsized, and Huson was astride one end while Blackburn was merely hanging on to the line. When rescued both men were almost exhausted from their immersion and long exposure. However, they were taken to the Landing where they received every attention. Blackburn claims to be a good swimmer, but knowing his friend could not swim, he (Blackburn) got on board to assist him, but eventually became too weak to swim. It was a very close shave for the three, and they consider they received. Messrs. Huson and Blackburn must have perished. They are from Ottawa.

No Certificate.

The examiners have not issued a certificate to J. N. Muir, B.A., although that gentleman with other graduates presented himself for examination, and was told that it would not be necessary for him to take the educational paper, as, having taught already in the Province, his ability to teach was known to the examiners. It is Mr. Muir's intention to ascertain, if he can, the reason for this oversight, and to challenge the right of the department to refuse him a certificate if it appears to him that the department has influenced the examiners to refuse his credentials.
